ROCKEFELLER MONEY FOR MANY COLLEGES

Wake Forest Down on List for $37,500-Must Raise Three Times as Much. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NEW YORK, August 8.—The General

Education Board has recently made conditional appropriations from the income $10,000,000 for higher education to nine colleges in different parts of the United colleges in different parts of the United States, amounting to $312,500. When the several colleges have raised the specified conditional sums, the total thus added to collegiate endowment in the United States will aggregate about $1,400,000.

The colleges and universities have agreed to raise, in addition to the sums allotted to them, enough to make the total additions to their endowments four times the amounts offered by the general board. The gifts are conditional on the colleges and universities raising three times as much from other sources.

The institutions and the amounts they will receive are as follows: Coc College, Cedar Rapids, Jowa, $50,000; Washburn College, Topeka, Kan, $25,000; Wofford College, Brartanburs, S. C. $25,000; Farman University, New Orleans, $75,000; Wofford College, Brartanburs, S. C., $25,000; Farman University Greenville, S. C., $25,000; Wofford College, Brartanburs, S. Dogs at the Soda Counter.

Drug stores that have soda fountaine are making more money than ever from the sale of fee cream soda this season, owing to the fact that women with canine pets have taken to feeding them on the frozen beverages. In some stores, says the New York Sun, special receptacles are kept for the dogs' use, and they sit up at the counter like humans lapping their soda from low, flat dishes.

Occasionally the lee cream alone is fed to the animals on the floor. The proprietors of stores don't like the idea, but women declare that their dogs are just as good as they are, and if, the former are refused they will quit the shop; consequently, to keep the custom the druggists don't refuse to serve dogs.
